FDR REPORTS OCEAN PARLEY TO CONGRESS

Says Opposition To Principles Would Imply Nazi Compromise

HITLER-DICTATED PEACE IMPOSSIBLE

Would Only Give Germany Chance Later At Western Hemisphere

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—President Roosevelt, reporting to congress on his epochal meeting at sea with Prime Minister Churchill, said today the declaration of principles agreed upon there were so clear cut that they would be difficult to oppose "without automatically admitting a willingness to accept compromise" with Nazism.

These principles, the President added in a brief special message, also would be hard to oppose without admitting a willingness to agree to a world peace which would give to Nazism domination over large numbers of conquered nations.

"Inevitably," Mr. Roosevelt asserted, "such a peace would be a gift to Nazism to take breath— a brief respite for a second war to extend the control over Europe and Asia to the American hemisphere."

Mr. Roosevelt said it was perhaps unnecessary to "call attention once more to the utter lack of validity of the spoken or written word of the Nazi government."

He added that it also was unnecessary to point out that the declaration included of necessity the world need for freedom of religion and freedom of information.

No society of the world organized under the announced principles could survive "without these freedoms which are a part of the whole freedom for which we strive."

The President reported the military and naval conversations at the north Atlantic conference "made clear gains" in furthering the effectiveness of lend-lease aid to countries east and west.

He and the prime minister, Mr. Roosevelt added, are arranging for conferences with Russia to assist it "in its defense against the attack made by the principal aggressor of the modern world—Germany."

The declaration of principles, the President continued, presented a goal "worthwhile for our type of civilization to seek."

Written with pencil and scratch pad in the President's study last night, the message contained a copy of the official statement released by the White House last Thursday covering the eight general aims agreed upon by the prime minister and Mr. Roosevelt.

In fact, this copy, furnished to congress in the nature of a report, constituted most of today's message. Only six new paragraphs were included.

Truck Drivers And Generals Get Chance To Test Skill As Army Units Hold Maneuvers

Cooks And Supply Men Bag 30 Tanks; Second Army Soldiers Give Medical Corps Practice; "Spy" Neglects To Change Shoes

(By The Associated Press)

CAMP POLK, La.—The Third army's war games in western Louisiana are giving soldiers from truck drivers to generals a chance to test their initiative and fighting ability.

Answering what he said were recent criticisms against the usefulness of such maneuvers, Lieut.-General Lesley McNair, army chief of staff, declared they were worth many times the expenditure involved and gave oficers and privates alike a real opportunity to prove their soldiering ability.

One incident of quick thinking was demonstrated by a truck supply convoy of the first cavalry brigade from Fort Bliss, Tex.

Finding itself surrounded by enemy tanks, the convoy went into action with rifles and machine guns and blocked the road with a truck and water wagon.

Just enough room was left for enemy tanks to pass, but the armored division found it led them straight into muddy fog, making their machines useless and prey to easy capture.

Meanwhile, scouts located two abandoned 105-millimeter howitzers and two other big guns which were placed at each end of the truck column. Altogether the cooks and supply men were credited officially with bagging 30 tanks.

WITH SECOND ARMY IN ARKANSAS—Soldiers turned actors today in the Second army's mimic warfare, pretending by the dozens to be wounded, to give the medical troops practice in handling casualties of war.

Only the occasional crack of a 30-caliber blank offered a semblance to actual firing, as men feigned being hit by the simulated shooting.

Each medical unit was ordered to go through a session of handling casualties during the second problem of the war games, which found the 75,000 men of seventh army corps setting up a defensive position along a 15-mile front. An enemy, represented by the 10th (Ohio) cavalry, advanced in attack.

HOMEWORTH PLANS HOME-COMING FETE

Mt. Union And Fairmount Home Officials Will Give Addresses

HOMEWORTH, Aug. 21.—This Columbian county village will hold its 10th annual homecoming this weekend, with Prof. L. E. Warren of the education department of Mt. Union college and E. D. George, superintendent of the Fairmount Children's home, as guest speakers.

The principal programs will be staged Saturday, although the homecoming festivities will open officially Friday night with entertainment by radio performers.

A sports program at 10 a. m. will open Saturday's activities. Chicken dinners will be served at noon and at 6 p. m. Professor Warren and George will speak during the Saturday afternoon program which opens at 2.

A concert will be given at 8 p. m. Saturday by the Fairmount Children's home band.

Special music and readings will be given during the Saturday afternoon program. There will be musical selections by the Gobeil family, a trumpet solo by Donald Presley, accordion music by Miss Dorothy Knoll and a solo by Miss Wanda Gardner. Readings will be given by Miss Martha Pilmer.

Contests to be staged during the sports program Saturday morning will include: Cracker eating free-for-all; shoe kicking for women; ball throwing for women; nail driving for both men and women; kicking race, free-for-all; bicycle slow race. There will also be prizes awarded for the best decorated bicycle, the oldest man and woman registered before dinner, and the best flower display.

Committees for the event are: Entertainment, Amos Eckert and Elmer Cover; refreshments, D. D. Borton and Walter McQuilkin; dinners, Mrs. Charles Maxwell and Mrs. Chester Knoll; advertising, J. G. Stewart; sports, Chester Knoll; and fire display, Mrs. Virgil Jackson.

Officers of the homecoming association are: President, Charles Maxwell; secretary-treasurer, Miss Jean McGarry.

ALLIANCE, Aug. 21.—Putting its stamp of approval on the parking meters that have been operating the last nine months, city council has passed legislation that will give the city full possession of the 210 machines next February.

CHORUS GROWS FOR INVASION OF CONTINENT

Unofficial Strategists Say It Is Only Way To Beat Germany

DEMANDS ARE MADE FOR SECOND FRONT

British Urged To Attempt Landings At Various Points On Coast

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Unofficial English, Polish and Norwegian strategists raised anew today their cries for a British invasion of the continent as the only way to defeat Germany.

British military leaders were called upon for all-out war against the Nazis. Current RAF bombings of Germany and occupied territories were deemed insufficient by these sources.

Frank Owen, editor of Minister of Supply Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard, demanded "a second front and not only in the air" in a signed editorial. Owen suggested a British offensive against Italy, long favored by some military sources as the spot where the Axis could be hit hardest.

Many Polish and Norwegian military men have urged the British to attempt landings at a number of points along the European coastline in an effort to find the weakest point in German defenses.

Once a weak spot was found, these men believe, enough British and Allied forces could be landed to overcome local resistance to dig in and open a new front. Most of these men believe RAF bombings have smashed German communications and therefore the Germans would find it difficult to concentrate enough troops to counter a British invasion at any one point.

ASKS REMOVAL OF TAX EXEMPTIONS

Proposal To Levy On All Of Income Before Committee

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A recommendation that congress wipe out completely all tax exemptions on personal incomes was laid before the senate finance committee today by Walter A. M. Cooper, chairman of the taxation committee of the American Institute of Accountants.

Present exemptions are $2,000 for married persons and $800 for single individuals. The treasury has recommended a reduction to $1,500 and $750, respectively.

In a prepared statement, Cooper, a resident of White Plains, N. Y., also urged that normal income taxes be withheld at the source on all payments of salaries, dividends, interest and "other fixed or determinable income." Social security taxes now are collected in a similar manner.

The recommendations, Cooper said, were based on five considerations:

1. "The federal government originally set up the income tax 'to add a little gravity' to the federal revenue. Now, however, the levy is the government's chief revenue producer.

Fame Of Salem Trades Class Reaches To Far-Off Australia

Footscray Technical School Asks Information On Operation of Training Program

The fame of the Salem Trades Class, long recognized as a medium for training men in the shops to become skilled workers, has spread to the opposite side of the globe.

The Trades Class recently organized for a new term with a total enrollment of 208, of whom 92 are new students, an unusually large "freshman" class.

Holland W. Cameron, co-ordinator of the industrial class, is in receipt of a letter from A. A. Hoadley, principal of Footscray technical school in Footscray, Australia, asking for information on the Salem school so that a similar training center might be started there.

The Australian educator's attention was called to the Trades Class by an article in "The Enamelist," a monthly magazine devoted to the porcelain industry.

The article, written by J. T. Ir-

Passage From Europe Runs High These Days

When the S. S. Ciudad de Sevilla arrived in New York from Europe, the 555 passengers said that the majority of them were forced to sleep in triple-deck bunks constructed in the ship's cargo hold, as pictured above. Space on liners from Europe is so scarce that many passengers on the Ciudad de Sevilla paid a fare of $1.25 for the privilege of getting these accommodations.

GAS SHORTAGE PROBE SOUGHT

Congressional Inquiry Of Fuel Situation Asked By New Englander

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A New England senator today urged a speedy congressional investigation to determine whether the east actually faces a gasoline shortage, as the defense petroleum office sharply reasserts the case.

"I want to learn if there is an actual shortage or if we are being pushed around for psychological reasons," Senator Maloney (D-Conn.) told reporters, saying he would ask the senate commerce committee to act immediately on his resolution for an inquiry.

Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum coordinator, announced yesterday that the long-predicted shortage had developed, that usable reserve stocks had dwindled to an available storage sufficient for only 10 days, and that the situation was "perilous."

Davies cited figures to show that eastern gasoline stocks dropped 893,000 barrels last week, as the increasing effects of the transfer of American oil tankers to British service were felt.

This is the beginning of the sharp and serious drop in supplies that we forecast," he said. "Figures which have become available today show that reports that stocks on

LISBON'S JAYCEES TO HOLD FESTIVAL

LISBON, Aug. 21.—The local Junior Chamber of Commerce is making plans for its second annual Fall Festival and street fair to be held here the latter part of September.

Prizes for displays of farm produce, baked goods, etc. are expected to attract many exhibitors, and concessions and carnival amusements will draw many visitors to the village for the event. Dr. J. E. Jones, president of the Jaycees, is in charge of arrangements.

BODY OF CANFIELD MAN IS RECOVERED

The body of Clarence Blott, 35, former Canfield resident who drowned in the Ohio river near Cincinnati Sunday, was washed ashore Wednesday near the scene of the mishap. The body is being returned to Canfield for funeral services and burial.

Mr. Blott, who was attending a church outing when he fell from a cabin cruiser and drowned, was a printer by trade and he worked for the Lyle Printing Co. here. Later he went to Akron and then Cincinnati.

He leaves his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Blott.

Guard To Parade Friday

CAMP PERRY, Aug. 21.—Units of the Ohio State guard in training here polished up on drilling formations today in anticipation of tomorrow's visit by Gov. John W. Bricker. A parade of 750 members of the guard's first regiment and four divisions of the state naval militia will be reviewed.

CALL ON WOMEN TO RAISE SKIRT HEMS AS AID TO DEFENSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—A clarion call to American women to "cut skirt lengths several inches" was issued today by the National Women's Undergarment Manufacturers Association.

Delegates to a meeting of the organization said their suggestion should result in a saving of millions of yards of cloth in women's dress and underwear fabrics.

Helen Forrist Hall, Associated Press fashion expert, raised her eyebrows when informed of the NWUMA action.

"Skirt hems," she said severely, "already are slapping at our knees. Now what?"

SALEM TOWNSHIP CANDIDATES FILE

Two Will Seek Places On Leetonia Board Of Education

Three more Columbiana county men today became candidates for posts in Nov. 4 non-partisan balloting.

Charles L. Stoltz and Russell L. Miller filed nominating petitions with the county election board for the Leetonia board of education, while Emerson W. Halverson entered the race for trustee of Salem township. All three reside in Salem township on Leetonia R. D. 1.

Meanwhile, 14 more of the Aug. 12 primary candidates filed statements of their campaign finances with the board, as required under the "corrupt practices" act.

The remaining 99 of the 174 aspirants from eight cities and villages must enter the statements before the deadline Friday at 6:30 p. m. Certificate of nomination will not be issued to successful candidates until the return has been made, the county election board pointed out.

In addition, persons who were nominated, write-in votes must pay a filing fee of one-half of one percent of the office's annual salary if they intend to accept.

Expect New Patrolman To Be Assigned Here

The personnel of the Salem state highway patrol sub-station may be increased from six to seven men in the near future following the graduation at Columbus today of 22 men who completed 12 weeks' instruction.

In conformance with recent legislation, authorizing a patrol membership of 300 instead of the previous 200 maximum, Supt. Lynn Black said 23 additional men had been in training for four weeks, and another contingent would be enrolled at the close of the state fair Aug. 29.

Members of the new class will be assigned to the fair for the first week of their $160-a-month work.

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 21.—A garbage truck backed out of a drive and into 12-month-old David Mosley's perambulator in nearby Poland yesterday, crushing the infant to death. His grandmother, Mrs. Saline Fleming, who was wheeling the carriage, suffered a broken leg.

JAPAN LIFTS SAILING BAN

NYK Line Suddenly Announces Reservations On Shanghai Ship

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO, Aug. 21.—The NYK line—apparently under foreign office pressure—suddenly announced tonight it had reservations for 26 United States embassy and consular officials aboard the liner Tatsuta Maru, scheduled to sail Aug. 28 for Shanghai.

At Shanghai, most of the Americans expected to obtain trans-Pacific passage home aboard a United States transport.

Because of the unfavorable "hostage" publicity arising from the inability of United States nationals to obtain passage from Japan, the foreign office was believed to have exerted pressure.

NYK line officials then turned up accommodations for nine naval, two marine and four army officers, all Japanese-language students who recently have been ordered to other stations; and a group of consular employees.

The action was believed to have resulted from the recent talks between United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew and Teijiro Toyoda, Japanese foreign minister.

Koh Ishii, foreign office spokesman, had charged that the United States embassy broke a promise.

OTHERS MAY FORCE COUNTRY INTO WAR

LONDON, Aug. 21.—Capt. Elliott Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, said in an interview today that if the United States were to enter the war it might not be "determined by us but by some other people."

"One of our ships might be fired on," Roosevelt, an officer in the air corps, commented. "We are going to defend our ships and our men."

Roosevelt, who came here from the sea meeting between his father and Prime Minister Churchill called the meeting "a very important step in the progress of the war. Whether it was a turning point remains to be seen."

SOVIET CALLS FOR DEFENSE TO THE FINISH

Berlin's Answer Is Threat To Raze City As It Did Warsaw

5 MILLION REDS LOST, NAZIS CLAIM

DNB News Agency Insists Also That Britain Has Not Been Forgotten

(By Associated Press)

German troops storming toward Leningrad from the south were reported today to be within 13 miles of the old Czarist capital, Russia's second city, and even the Russians acknowledged that Leningrad was in "dread danger."

A Swedish broadcast, quoting the Berlin correspondent of a Stockholm newspaper, said the Nazis were advancing via Gatchina, about 22 miles south of Leningrad.

Adolf Hitler's high command reported that German columns had smashed three main bulwarks of Leningrad's outer defense system.

Claim 5 Million Loss

Total Red army losses of 5,000,000 men in the 61-day-old struggle were claimed by the Germans, including 1,200,000 prisoners. DNB, the official German news agency, said conquered Soviet territory exceeded 335,000 square miles—an area greater than the entire German Reich and its newly-incorporated territories east and west.

DNB also distributed a statement re-emphasizing that the war was being waged "to gain preconditions for the final struggle with Great Britain" and insisting that aerial blows against the British Isles had not been weakened.

Neutral observers interpreted the statement two ways: First, an attempt to bolster German morale, now suffering devastating punishment from the RAF; second, to quash vague rumors of a British-German peace movement.

In London, a high British authority said RAF raids in the last eight weeks had placed far more bombers over Germany in a single night than the Germans sent over Britain in the most violent assaults last autumn and winter.

"The German people are catching it now," he said.

Challenge Russian Order

Challenging an official Russian order for a fight to defend Leningrad to the death, the Berlin radio declared that if the city were defended it would suffer the fate of Warsaw, which was largely destroyed by Nazi Stukas and siege guns when the Poles refused to surrender.

The Red army northwest command admitted that Leningrad was under "direct threat of attack," but the Russians expressed confidence that the city's defenses—with an estimated garrison of 1,000,000 men—would hold.

On the southern front, Russia's great Black sea port of Odessa was reported aflame, blasted by German artillery and Stuka dive-bombers.

The German high command reported that Nazi troops storming toward Leningrad from the south had captured the ancient walled city of Novgorod, 100 miles below Leningrad, in bitter fighting against the Red army defenders.

PENNSYLVANIA PART OF CUT-OFF OPENED

EAST PALESTINE, Aug. 21.—Pennsylvania's section of the new "cut-off" which will throw East Palestine off the Cleveland-Pittsburgh highway when completed, was opened to light traffic today.

The Pennsylvania improvement—1.9 miles—on Route 51 joins with Ohio Route 14. Work on the Ohio side of the cut-off has not yet started. Plans call for the re-routing of No. 14 east through Unity. It now goes through East Palestine.

A new 198-foot viaduct, built under the project, eliminates the Hartshorne crossing on the Pennsylvania railroad, about a mile east of East Palestine. The crossing has been the scene of several fatal accidents.

Asks Fund Transfer

LISBON, Aug. 21.—The board of education of the Kensington rural school district has filed an application in common pleas court here seeking the transfer of $433.68 from the bond retirement fund to the general fund. It is stated in the petition that the money is unencumbered and no longer needed in the bond retirement fund, and that it is needed in the general fund to meet outstanding bills and obligations.

CAN WE TAKE IT?

A year ago this country was blustering with windy promises about what it was going to do. It was going to have the best and biggest of everything. It had the financial capacity, the manpower and the resources to make itself the strongest power on earth—and it wasn't scared a bit by anything that had happened or was likely to happen, which included (at that time) the invasion of Great Britain.

That was a year ago. Americans have discovered since then that making their country the strongest power on earth is a lot tougher than talking about it. Here and there misgivings are cropping out. The second guessers and carpers are popping off. The chronic fretters are doing a lot of fretting about morale and picking out horrible examples to show how bad things are. Occasionally someone means that maybe the United States over-estimated.

Certainly it did. It over-estimated the ease and rapidity with which it could accomplish in a couple of years what no nation ever tried to accomplish before in less than twice as long. It was too cocky. That is one of the oldest of American customs. It also is one of the best. Without cockiness, there wouldn't have been any American customs at all. It took a lot of cockiness to whittle a major power out of a wilderness in less than 150 years. Americans had their ears pinned back lots of time, but they always came back.

The question today, raised every time a doubt is voiced about the defense program, is whether Americans still can take it. This is the proof of the pudding they have made for themselves. Anyone can bluster and make windy promises. The thing that matters is keeping the promises, sticking to the job, delivering the goods, overcoming the obstacles and refusing to be discouraged. The thing that matters is ability to take it in the battle for survival now raging throughout the world.

There are plenty of things wrong with the way the defense program is going—too many. But there were bound to be. The only question was whether the disappointments and discouragements would prove too much for America to bear. Only one answer to that question is possible. No.

TRYING OUT THE ALTERNATIVE

Arrest of French legislators for the high crime of opposing the Petain government will be one more reminder to Frenchmen of the privileges they lost when their country was sucked into the iron jaws of dictatorship.

The act suggests that perhaps the best thing which has happened to democracy in recent years is dictatorship. It was the new method, the alternative to the democratic system. Many Frenchmen thought dictatorship was worth trying.

Remembering what was happening before the war started, Americans will realize that in many other countries, including their own, the tendency to think of dictatorship as a desirable alternative to democracy was strong.

In those countries today, the tendency isn't so strong. Some of them are trying out the alternative. They are learning about the theory. They are seeing how it works with their own eyes, instead of the prejudiced eyes of the super-salesmen of despotism.

The American ambassador to Vichy, Admiral William D. Leahy, has reported that the Roosevelt-Churchill declaration of war aims has impressed Frenchmen deeply. It constituted a kind of psychological invasion of the continent, promising ultimate rescue to all the unhappy persons who, whatever they may have thought about the blunderings of government by the people, know now what it feels like to exist under government by the despots.

Adolf Hitler has done more to make democracy attractive than the democracies, themselves, ever could have done without his assistance.

NOT A DEEP MYSTERY

Smoke-screened by the furious debate that came later but one of the vital points in the issue was Gen. Marshall's public testimony that the army wanted more flexibility in the Selective Service Act. The chief of staff explained that it was not the purpose to hold trainees and guardsmen in camp an unreasonable length of time and that in many cases they should be dismissed without further service.

However, for the sake of efficiency he believed the army should have the privilege of returning soldiers to civilian life according to its own plans, instead of according to the rigid terms of the Selective Service Act as passed originally.

All of this seems to be worth recalling as a likely explanation for the war department's announcement that it will begin releasing draftees and guardsmen in December, foregoing the authority granted by congress to hold them 18 months past the end of their first year's service. The announcement is being called a mystery. Actually, it is no more mysterious than the public testimony of the men charged with responsibility for developing the new United States army. It is exactly what he said he wanted to be able to do.

THEY EARN THE MONEY

Congressmen have been saying it, but now constituents are beginning to believe it. Senators and representatives no longer are part-time employees. Legislating in Washington, if done right, is a full-time job.

The recess that has been arranged to let the congressmen get away from Washington until after Labor day is a reminder that they have been in session continuously since the first of the year. It may be that future members of congress will look forward to being on the job 12 months a year, with no more time off than most of their constituents get.

Congressmen, themselves, are responsible for the extension of their duties; their votes have widened the authority of government and increased the number and complexity of the issues demanding their decisions. It remains to be seen whether the availability of really able men will be still further diminished by the necessity of earning the $10,000 a year that goes with service in congress.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, August 22

ACCORDING to the leading lunar transits, this may be a day of contradictions and conflict, with adverse situations and tenacious obstacles blocking the wheels of great activity and enterprise, with large plans and major objectives at stake. The good offices of those superiors or others whose aid is important may be difficult to attain unless much finesse and strategy is exerted. Patience, sound system, constructive tactics and bold strokes, backed up by perseverance and will power may vanquish obstacles and win.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year to test their persistency, endurance, will power and initiative in order to cope with stubborn obstacles, disappointments and other adverse manifestations. Those whose cooperation is vital may be unyielding unless approached with particular tact and sagacity. Devastating and difficult situations may be overcome by a plan of patient and well-organized strategy. Compromise or appeasement may produce strange or unforeseen results.

A child born on this day should have splendid initiative, vigor and energies, with determination, tenacity and will power, which it will need to cope with obstacles and reverses. Also sudden strokes of good luck may ensue.

Here is a new item that says: "Veterinarians say that a losing race horse may have lacked vitamins." Yes, and the fellow who bet on him may be minus his shirt.

A news dispatch from Switzerland says: "Hitler is sick." Well, as Irvin Cobb once remarked about his city editor, let us hope it is nothing trivial.

Assessing rural electric lines at 4 per cent of their cost may be just another way to give private business a kick in the pants.

At that, this country prefers a drought to a rain of bombs!

REDISCOVER THE HUMAN VOICE

Movie And Radio Helped, Says Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

The present decade may well be remembered as the period of the rediscovery of the human voice, and professions, such as radio and the talking pictures are dependent upon convincing and cultivated voice production. Hundreds of thousands of people where there used to be one or two, are ambitious to succeed in some line of industry which requires this form of cultivation.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The voice is produced by the vocal cords, when air is forced over them, and they are drawn sufficiently together to leave a fine opening called the glottis. The length of the glottis in the adult male averages 1.8 cm., and in the female, 1.2 cm.

Speech is composed of fundamentals called vowels and consonants. As speech proceeds, there is a constant shifting of these sounds which depend for their modification upon the shape of the resonating cavities. When the sounds are continuous, they are called continuants, and when the sound stream is interrupted, they are called stops.

Physical Properties: There are four physical properties of speech which make it characteristic: pitch, intensity, timing and timbre.

Pitch is the compass of the voice. It goes through and points the way.

Intensity depends on the pressure of the air below the glottis made by the air coming up from the chest. A simile would be made with a boxer when he finds a place to land on his opponent—that is pitch. The amount of energy behind the blow is intensity.

Timing is of the utmost importance in the effectiveness of any kind of speech. The emotion behind the speech is shown in the timing. Rapidity is for conveying excitement, and for abrupt command; deliberation is emphasis in argument. President Roosevelt, as an orator, has it all: Pitch, intensity, timbre and timing, but the great effectiveness of his oratory certainly lies in his timing.

Timbre depends very largely on the size of the glottis and on the amount of air space in the sinuses around the nose and the upper jaw. These cavities in the upper jaw form a sort of sounding board which give the characteristic elements and personality to the voice. By their timbre, you recognize various individuals over the telephone.

All these elements can be cultivated best by practice and imitation rather than formal instruction. A great deal of formal instruction given by voice and singing teachers is bad. The breath control which singing teachers insist on, which consists in throwing the breath stream against the palate or facial bones to produce a particular sound, is entirely unscientific, since the air is governed by the laryngeal muscles and passed to the resonating cavities. The result of this teaching is usually a throaty effect.

Controlled By Mind

In voice production the mind still controls the mechanism. The singer when sounding a note of certain pitch, must have a mental image of that note. The good singer knows how to bring about first a mental adjustment, and then a physical adjustment to produce the tone desired. Singing teachers are coming to ask advice from specialists in throat medicine, and with the pressure of the modern age, the medical profession is reawakening to an interest in this subject, which has become so close to our daily lives.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

S. F. W.: "I have been on a reducing diet. I never drink but one cup of black coffee at breakfast and do not seem to care for a hot drink at any other time of day. My weight averages 184, height 5'11", age 75. My ailment is high blood pressure. Is there any drink to be substituted for coffee?"

Answer: I do not believe you should try to substitute anything for black coffee. You probably need it at your age, and it will do your blood pressure good rather than harm.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. ## COLUMBIANA HIRES NEW INSTRUCTORS

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 21 — At a special meeting of the Columbiana board of education, the resignation of Dallas H. Hepburn, board member for the last six years, was accepted. A successor to fill his unexpired term will be named at the next board meeting. Craig Slagle and Nelson Kyser were rehired as school janitors for another year. Miss Naomi McKenzie has been employed as office secretary to succeed Mrs. Beth Bender, who resigned.

A course in office training will be added to the work of the commercial department, and an electric welding course is a possibility later on in the Industrial Arts department. School will open Tuesday, Sept. 2, and pupils will be admitted to the first grade whose sixth birthday occurs prior to Nov. 1.

Three new teachers are employed. Robert Payne, Mt. Gilead, will teach industrial arts and be head football coach. He is a graduate of Ohio Northern university and was freshman football coach there last year.

Miss Mildred Burton will teach languages, succeeding Miss Elizabeth Starr, who resigned to continue her education. Miss Ruth Wilson will teach home economics, succeeding Miss Dorothy Martin, who resigned to be married. Both Miss Burton and Miss Wilson were honor graduates of Columbiana High school and of their colleges, Mount Union and Ohio State university, respectively.

Coach Payne has issued a call to prospective football candidates to meet Monday, Aug. 25, at 10 a. m. at the school gym, where equipment will be issued.

MALAYA DEFENSES ARE STRENGTHENED

British Find That Jungles Are Not Impenetrable, As Believed

SINGAPORE—The theory that the "back door" approaches to the island fortress of Singapore are protected from northeast attack by natural jungle defenses almost as strong as the coastal batteries which protect it from a sea attack no longer holds good.

British forces in Malaya have proved that the Malayan jungle, even in most dense areas is not impenetrable, although in some parts visibility is limited to 10 or 20 yards. It is common knowledge here that British, Australian and Indian troops in Malaya operate at will in jungle country and patrols moving along a road or track will plunge into jungle at any given point and proceed unhindered on their mission.

The commanding officer of an Indian regiment recently was told that a certain section for which he was responsible was easy to defend because it was protected by jungle. He felt skeptical and decided to experiment. He took some of his men along a road to a point where the jungle appeared thickest. Their equipment included a map, compass and parangs (native cutting instrument).

Advance Not Difficult

He chose as his objective a point some eight miles distant—and attained it within a few hours.

He found that, although the jungle appears at first glance to be so dense that no man could find his way through, it was merely the undergrowth which was thick and the undergrowth is composed of saplings and shrubs which can be cut down with a parang—a most adaptable hand weapon.

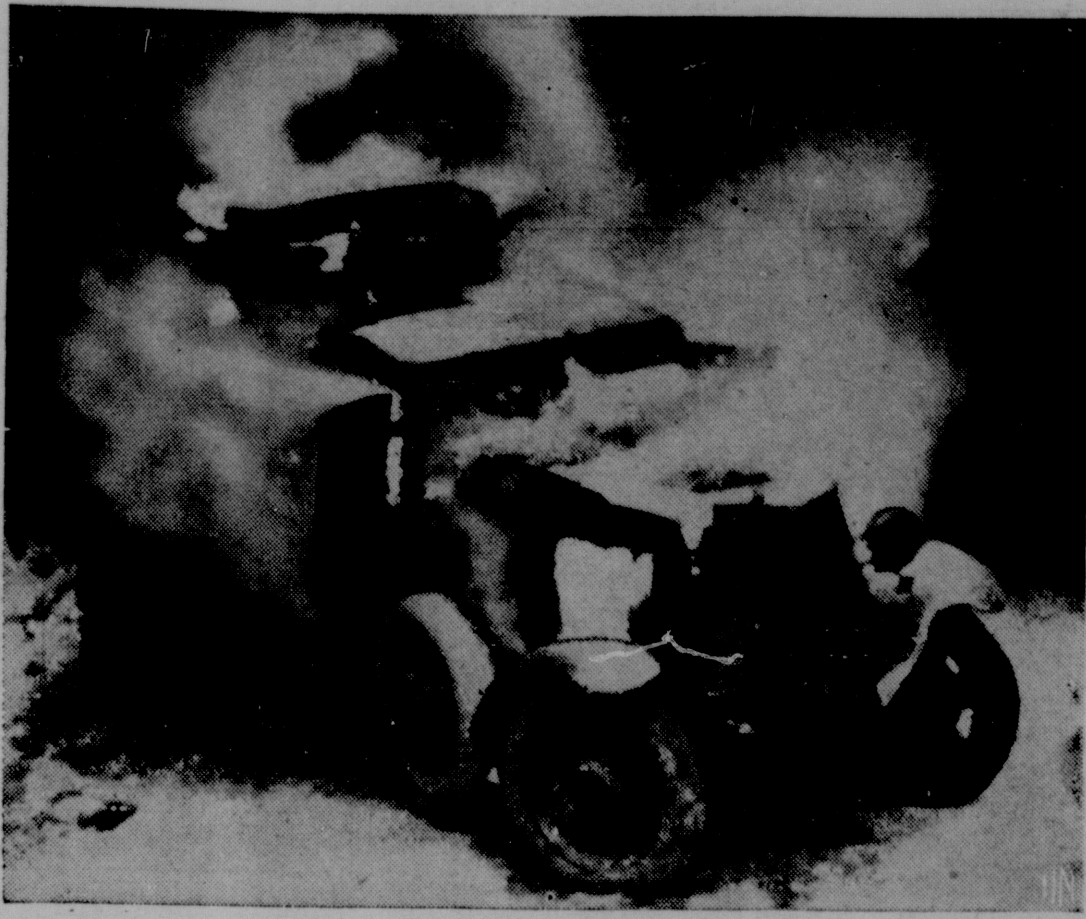

Staff officers inspected the area. They watched the Indian sepoy rhythmically swinging their parangs in extended file, cutting a path through the "impenetrable" jungle.

A lesson was learned and, as a result, the defense scheme for Malaya and other areas was changed. Defensive forces now are becoming highly trained in combating the unpenetrable jungle and the formidable problems of supplies and communications.

Latest Lessons Used

The controversy regarding the supposed advantages of defense over attack has been threshed out in Singapore military circles just as it has everywhere else in the world. The modern scheme of defense in Singapore, designed to protect the island from attacks from any quarter, makes full use of the lessons learned in Flanders last year. Experts assert that an enemy almost certainly would endeavor to break through by infiltration tactics, probably using such armored fight### ing vehicles as could be landed.

Defensive infantry tactics in Malaya are based on the principle that the enemy must be hunted down and harried at every turn—it is the defenders who must attack, if possible before the enemy has had a chance to strike.

Such tactics make familiarity with jungle conditions essential. Malaya is not a country suited to positional warfare because there are no long fronts to be defended. While agreeing that static defense could be carried out from trenches and pillboxes, on the beaches for example, military men say that it cannot be depended on in every circumstance.

For this reason land forces in Malaya are being trained primarily as "shock troops." The effectiveness of these defense tactics will depend to a great extent on the infantry's initiative and enterprise.

Gigantic Army Maneuvers Are Now In Preparation

CAMP BEAUREGARD, La. Aug. 1.—Two months from now the nation will know the answer to an all-important question:—know whether its army has developed into something gangling, gawky and over-sized, or whether it has been welded into a mighty twentieth century fighting force, capable of meeting any foe in the world.

The answer will come this September when after many weeks of preparation more than 500,000 soldiers—draftees and hard-bitten veterans alike—clash in the greatest and most unusual war games ever staged in this country.

This mimic battle, first free maneuvers ever staged on so large a scale, will be fought out over a 100-square mile area in southwest Louisiana and east Texas.

The battle will be no test of the soldier alone. Instead it will be a test of armies—armies pitted one against the other; a gigantic sham battle in which all the weapons of modern destruction will be used.

Intensive Preparations

So important are these September battles that for weeks now the army has had thousands and tens of thousands of soldiers in the field, learning routine, getting hardened so that the task of battle this September will not find them wanting in knowledge.

During the weeks of corps and division maneuvers the men have been deploying over rolling territory, racing through thorny bushes, firing machine guns, studying the technique of howitzers and absorbing all the knocks that go with field work.

While the number of men—more than 500,000—shatters all precedent itself, army importance of the September maneuvers is stressed by the fact that the mimic warfare will be free of umpire control. This means that these maneuvers will be as close to actual war conditions as possible. The one exception is that real bullets will not be used.

Important, too, is the fact that all types of new equipment will be faced with combat conditions. Use of all the equipment means that virtually every branch of America's armed land forces will see action in the gigantic mock battle.

Parachute Troops to Participate

New parachute troops—troops that first came into being when the Nazis moved against the low countries and then against Crete—will be involved in their first maneuvers. For months now these troops have been studying the art of landing behind enemy lines and will be all set when the signal sounds for the start of the big show.

Officially the battle will be the Third Army versus the Second Army. This means that all the tanks, the new jeeps, the artillery and the enlarged air force attached to these two army units will go into action on a large scale.

Significant, too, is the fact that plans indicate the enlarged GHQ air force will play an important role in the maneuvers. Heretofore the air force, mostly because of lack of equipment, has not been able to coordinate to the fullest its activities with army maneuvers.

A Full Scale Blitz

Thus, as the set-up now stands, a full scale blitz will be unleashed when the two armies clash on the rolling, pine-studded fields of southwest Louisiana. It will be a battle of giant proportions, of terrific noise and terrific strain on the men. No holds will be barred and with the one exception that real bullets will not be used the men will have known the full effects of modern war.

It was Sherman who said "War is Hell," and officers say that Sherman's words will have literal meaning for the 500,000 odd soldiers by the time these September maneuvers will have been concluded.

3,334 TELEPHONES IN USE IN SALEM

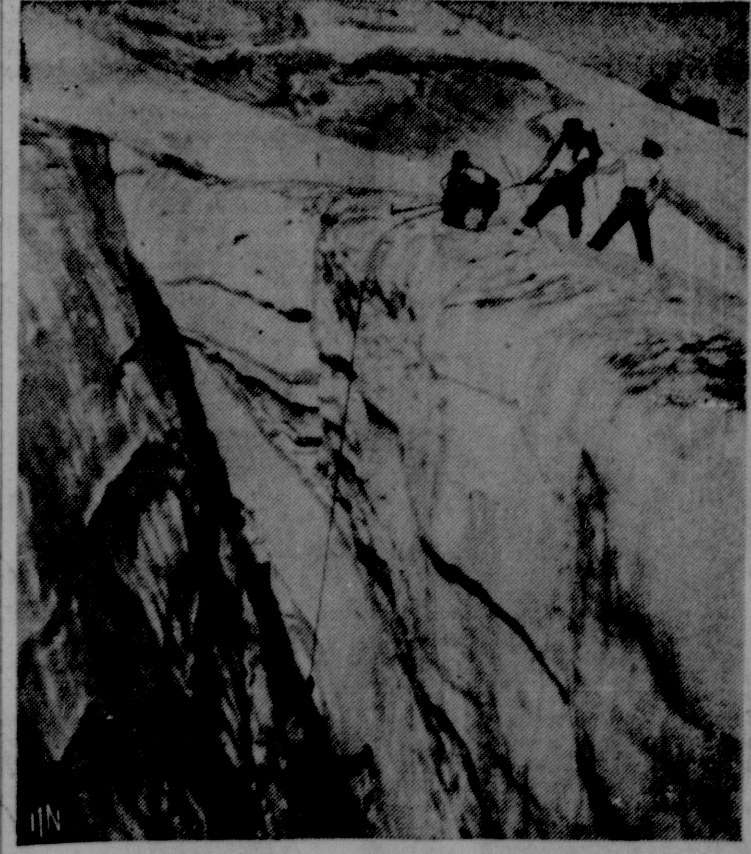

With the telephone industry experiencing an unprecedented demand for new service and facilities the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. now has 3,334 'phones in use in Salem, it was pointed out today by Carl F. Willman, local commercial manager.

The pre-depression peak in the number of telephones here was 2,850, reached in November of 1931. When depression losses came the figure dropped to 1,906 in July of '33. Since then there has been a gain of 1,428 telephones in Salem, he said.

Miss Hladia Porter, former teacher of French at the Salem High school, now vice president of Kinnaid college, Lahore, Punjab, India, was the guest of honor at a handkerchief shower given by the members of the Farr class of the Christian church at the home of Miss Ethel Beardmore, teacher of the class, on Columbia st., last evening. Twenty-five members of the class and their daughters were present.

Miss Henderson Bride Of Paul Holloway

Miss Anna Marie Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Henderson of Salem, became the bride of Paul W. Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holloway of Wheeling, W. Va., at the Quaker Meeting house on Sixth st. at 3 p. m. yesterday, by the Friends ceremony.

The attendants were Miss Mildred Mott, of Paulina, Iowa, Miss Dorothy Holloway, of Wheeling, W. Va., sister of the groom, Miss Edna Satterwaite, of Winona, Edw. Henderson, of Salem, brother of the bride, Clifford Guidon, of Fairhope, Ala., and Ralph Bailey of Tacoma, Wash.

The bride was charming in a long white organza gown, wearing gardenias in her hair. Her attendants were dressed in floor length dresses in pastel shades. They also wore flowers in their hair.

After the wedding there was a reception for friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents, on the Depot rd. Seventy-five attended, from Philadelphia, Richmond, Ind., Miami, Fla., Toledo, Lima, Canton, and Barnesville. A lunch, buffet-style, was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Holloway will make their home in Philadelphia. She has been employed by the Deming Co. Mr. Holloway is a student at Drexel Institute in Philadelphia. He is employed by the Philadelphia Silicon Co.

Both the bride and the groom are graduates of the Friends boarding school at Barnesville. Mrs. Holloway was also graduated from Youngstown college.

Women's Association Has Meeting

The Presbyterian Women's association held a regular business meeting at the church yesterday. In the absence of Mrs. J. M. Kelley, president, the meeting was in charge of Mrs. Eva Ruggie. Mrs. J. H. Campbell was in charge of the devotionals.

Tea was served by the August committee, headed by Mrs. Howard Milligan and Mrs. W. D. King.

The next meeting will be Sept. 17 at the church.

Push Plans For Benefit Fete

Arrangements are rapidly nearing completion for the benefit bistro party to be given Friday evening at the Salem Country club. The party is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. Various types of awards will be presented to the winners.

The committees are headed by Mrs. F. P. Mullins and William F. Ross.

Concord Sunday School Holds Party

The Concord Sunday school met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Weaver on Greenford rd., yesterday. One hundred members and guests were present. Ring games and visiting were the features of the afternoon. There was a wiener and corn roast. Guests were from Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Florida, and West Virginia.

King's Cousin Clipper Arrival

Lord Mountbatten with wife, Lady Edwina

Lord Louis Mountbatten, cousin of Britain's King George, is pictured with his wife, Lady Edwina, as they stepped off the Atlantic Clipper at New York's LaGuardia airport after a flight from Lisbon, Portugal. It is reported that the lord is en route to the South Pacific where he will assume command of a British warship. During the early stages of the war, Lord Mountbatten was commander of two warships that were sunk by the Axis.

SPORTS COAT WITH CASUAL AIR A FALL "MUST"

Left, amber-colored tweed coat plaided in brown and bright blue; center, tan shepherd's check homespun suit; right, plaid outfit including Scotch cap.

The sports coat with a casual air is one of the first articles of clothing one thinks about after they have bought an autumn hat. It is a perfect traveling companion and really a "must" for this season. Linda Darnell is modeling the coats shown left and right. At left she wears an amber-colored tweed coat plaided in brown and bright blue. It is a reefer style and has the new half belt in back and bias shoulder lines. The hat is brown felt, shoes brown suede. Right, she is modeling a "going-away" outfit which includes a Scotch cap to match the coat, which is green with shades of yellow and brown, and a lacing effect in the back. Center is Gene Tierney wearing a suit of fine shepherd's check homespun in soft tan. It is expertly cut, and the full-length coat is roomy and has a natural lynx collar which adds softness as well as warmth to the outfit. The matching skirt flares slightly, and a tan sweater completes the suit.

Grocer's Billboard Plan Gets Results

MONONGAHELA, Pa., Aug. 21.—Clem Pizzutelli, grocer and nemesis of deadbeats who threatened to post on an 8x24 foot billboard the names of customers owing him money for more than a year, let it be known today that his collection idea is going over in a big way.

Viewing he would wait no longer for 700 delinquent customers to pay a total of more than $20,000. Pizzutelli announced his plan a month ago.

At a cost of $150, he erected the billboard on a lot in this industrial city near Pittsburgh. By registered mail he notified his bad accounts they'd be posted in 30 days unless they forked over.

Results were immediate. Customers flocked in, obliging him to work overtime.

"Even some who didn't owe me a cent," chuckled the 56-year-old once-wealthy proprietor who has suffered financial reverses. "That shows how the billboard worried them. I told them they were paid up long ago. Others paid on bills I had forgotten myself."

He sends out 20 registered letters a week. No one will be posted on the first deadline of August 28—they all showed up, with a week to boot. Eighty-four persons, four times the first "quota," came through so far. Proceeds to date: $554.

What will Pizzutelli do with the money he collects? "I'm gonna pay my debts," he said.

"Salesman" Questioned

LISBON, Aug. 21.—Lisbon police today questioned Joseph Lynch, 45, of Columbus, who was arrested after he tried to sell a quantity of silverware at a local restaurant. The prisoner said he found the table service at a picnic grounds at Newton Falls.

ing, shop mathematics, machine shop practice, machine design, metallurgy, plumbing practice, porcelain enameling and other subjects.

Anyone employed in Salem industries is eligible and the cost of maintaining the class is shared by the state department of education and the local school board.

The controlling purpose of the extension classes is to provide instruction supplementary to the daily employment of the worker. Co-ordinator Cameron points out.

Trades Class graduates, upon receiving their diplomas, have to their credit 12 units of related class work, normally requiring four years, together with 7,200 hours credit at their respective trades in the shops. The students study 48 weeks of the year.

Classes are now being held Tuesday and Thursday nights and on Saturday mornings.

Local and district factories who have employees enrolled in the Trades Class at the present time include:

SALEM — Deming Co., Electric Furnace, Mullins Mfg. Corp., E. W. Bliss Co., National Rubber Co., Salem Engineering Co., Gonda Engineering, National Sanitary Co., Salem Tool Co., E. B. Hunt & Son, Quaker City Foundry and Starbuck brothers.

COLUMBIANA — Crescent Machine Co., Columbiana Boiler Co., Enterprise Co., Franklin Furniture.

LISBON — Heim & Heim, R. Thomas & Sons Co.

WARREN — Aetna Standard Engineering.

YOUNGSTOWN — Commercial Shearing & Stamping, United Engineering, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Carnegie Steel.

CANFIELD — E. K. Nichols. Instructors, besides Mr. Cameron and Mr. Pettyjohn, are E. L. Kerr, J. W. Holzwarth, G. K. Weaver, D. F. Ashed, J. R. Moore and R. J. Ferrine.

ASKS REMOVAL OF TAX EXEMPTIONS

Proposal To Levy On All Of Income Before Committee

2. "Our defense is being developed to protect the right of everyone to live and to earn any income whatsoever and there is no reason why every person in the United States should not contribute a share of that burden, proportionate to the amount of income, if any."

3. "The imposition of tax incomes without exemption would tend to prevent inflation of prices and probably would be more helpful in accomplishing the desired result in that respect than anything heretofore suggested."

4. "The collection at the source would make the problem of collection simpler than it is today."

5. "Elimination of exemptions would produce a very substantial amount of revenue."

RFC READY TO HELP RUSSIA WITH FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—When Russia needs money for her war effort against Germany, the Soviets will find Jesse Jones ready to help with an RFC loan.
The federal loan administrator revealed at his press conference yesterday that he had already discussed the possibility of a loan with the Russian ambassador, Constantin Oumansky, although matters had not yet reached the formal application stage.
Jones would not indicate the probable size of the loan, but said he "couldn't imagine it would be as big" as the $1,000,000,000 mentioned.
As for security, he remarked: "I guess we would have to take their promissory note."
He explained that financial help would not be forthcoming until after the Russians had exhausted their cash resources and assets here. Then the amount would depend on how much material and equipment they could obtain from American industry, already snowed under with orders for the defense program and lease-lend aid to Britain and China.

Investigate Cargo Ship "Bombs"

—I. I. N. Soundphoto

Members of New York's bomb squad are seen here coming ashore from a police boat after investigating reports that firemen saw containers exploding aboard the Cuba Mail line boat, Panuco, during the blaze which swept the ship and a Brooklyn pier causing the death of 20 persons and injury to 75. The containers proved to be part of the cargo holding mercury which exploded from the terrific heat.

DEFENSE EXHIBIT OHIO FAIR FEATURE

COLUMBUS, Aug. 21.—Easily the center of attention as booths and displays take shape at the Ohio State fairgrounds today is a defense exhibit of airplane equipment, bombs and machine guns.
Under constant military guard, Curtiss-Wright, Allison and Pratt-Whitney airplane power plants are arrayed under a 200-foot long tent on the southern edge of the central amusement area.
Cut-away models operated by electric motors show exactly how the engines operate and are synchronized with machine guns firing between whirling propeller blades.
When the week-long state fair opens Saturday, one of the new Curtiss P-40D planes, called the Kittyhawk by British fliers using them, will be on display and Lieut. S. G. Cutler said it would be "revved up" daily for the entertainment of patrons.

Congressional Inquiry Of Fuel Situation Asked By New Englander

the east coast are in firm and safe condition are myths."

Government petroleum officials would not say what gasoline supply, in terms of days, was normal, due to fast shifts in demand and supply, but they told newspapermen "it certainly is more than 10 days."

Washington Faces Cut

Meanwhile, it appeared that automobile owners in Washington soon would feel the full force of the curtailment program. Local filling station operators were informed that one large oil company would deliver to its retail dealers, between Aug. 16 and 31, only 30 per cent of what they received in July.

On the recommendation of Ickes, the Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply last week ordered a cut of 10 per cent in gasoline deliveries to filling stations. The station operators were told to apportion the available fuel equitably among consumers.

At that time OPACS warned eastern motorists that more drastic action might be necessary, in view of the transfer to Britain of a large number of tankers which formerly carried oil from gulf ports to the eastern seaboard.

In years of industrial prosperity patent applications average about 100,000 annually.

Ray Overturf, new Salem grid instructor, yesterday led his charges through their first 41 drill. A light workout, a short talk, and a demonstration of some of the fundamentals of football completed the session.

Regular twice-daily Salem workouts will begin next Tuesday when Frank (Tuffy) Gordon, assistant to Overturf, returns to Salem from a Michigan vacation. Gordon will handle the griders in morning workouts at Reilly field, Overturf in afternoon sessions at Tolerton's Field.

A total of 39 uniforms were issued on Wednesday. Several more will be handed out when prospective footballers who are now working at summer jobs report for practice.

DISCHARGE PLANS NOT YET REVEALED

COLUMBUS, Aug. 21.—Ohio military men expressed uncertainty today as to how soon the army's new 18-month "average training" edict would be reflected in widespread discharges of selectees and national guardsmen.

"We have had no official word from Washington, but the release of men from training camps will probably be effected in groups, rather than singly," asserted one source at Fort Hayes, fifth corps area headquarters.

"It is certain that all men will be 'processed out' of service—that is, subjected to physical examinations and reclassification in order to clarify their status. This could be done at the separate army camps, or the men—possibly in trainload lots—may be sent back to induction stations like Fort Hayes, Fort Thomas, Ky., and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

"As yet we have no statistics to indicate how many Ohioans may be affected by the new regulation. So far those released have trickled through by ones and twos."

Relief

MAYSVILLE, Ky.—Patrolman J. F. Brodt, Jr., flagged a city bus, told driver Roy Mitchell that Mrs. Mitchell had given birth to a son.

The patrolman ordered Mitchell to the hospital where he could greet the new arrival and said: "I'll take your place at the wheel."

Brodt made one complete trip over the bus route before being relieved by a regular driver.

Hitler on Napoleon's Ill-Fated Road to Moscow?

Hitler's mechanized blitzkrieg forces, which many self-styled military experts predicted would conquer Russia in two or three weeks, are merely neck-and-neck with the horse-and-buggy army of Napoleon in the race for Moscow, as this map shows. Napoleon broke his alliance with Czar Alexander to invade Russia June 24, 1812; entered Moscow Sept. 16. Hitler broke his alliance with Stalin and invaded Russia June 22, 1941. To equal Napoleon's record, he must enter Moscow by Sept. 13. Napoleon's troops entered Smolensk Aug. 17. With two days head start, Hitler's forces are reported only a few miles beyond that key city. It was there that Napoleon's two main columns, the southern one commanded by his brother, Jerome, combined. At Borodino on Sept. 7 they lost 25,000 troops to the Russian's 38,000, and eight days later the French entered Moscow. In a few hours the city was set afire by Russian saboteurs, and Napoleon was forced to retreat before winter and the still furiously fighting Russians. Fewer than 100,000 of Napoleon's original half-million men ever got out of Russia, and the road to Moscow proved to be only a detour on the way to Waterloo. Stalin, like the czar, left Smolensk in ruins and is following the czar's scorched earth policy, and crops are being hurriedly harvested. And Hitler has yet to reach Moscow.

Soldiers, From Truck Drivers To Generals, Have Their Chance

Stretcher bearers scoured the "battlefield" for the "wounded," placing them on stretchers and carrying them to first aid stations. There, army physicians went through the motions of examination and determining the pretended injury.

WITH THE ARMY IN SOUTH-EAST WASHINGTON

Dressed as a farmer to spy out enemy positions, an army private was detected by his regulation shoes.

Private Roy W. Noye of Kankakee, Ill., was assigned to scout patrol duty in the west coast maneuvers shortly after his arrival from Fort Ord, Calif.

Disguising himself as a farmer, the mild-mannered little rookie penetrated enemy lines and fairly bulged with information when he was captured just as he started to return toward his own lines last night.

A civilian Noye questioned actually thought Noye was a spy and hurried to the nearest army post to report. A lieutenant and a sergeant found Noye.

The disguised private insisted he was out hunting his cows and could not be detained unless the sheriff was called. He slipped and called the lieutenant sir, but countered a moment later by calling him sergeant.

Then Sgt. Ben Malone spotted the regulation army shoes which Noye had neglected to discard. The sergeant rolled up his overalls and there, sure enough, were his army leggings.

by asking that civilians, of whom there are more than 100 in Japan, also be permitted to board the American ship President Coolidge. The Japanese refused to grant the vessel clearing papers if she took them aboard and she did not enter a Japanese harbor.

NYK's step follows the line of what is said to have been the original embassy suggestion of evacuation of American officials when Japanese trans-Pacific sailings were cancelled.

Condition Unchanged

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 21.—The New Haven hospital today described the condition of Cynthia Taft, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taft of Cincinnati, who is suffering from infantile paralysis, as "satisfactory" and unchanged from yesterday, when it first became known that she was a patient here.

Dr. Wilder Tileston, the attending physician, said that the case was not serious and that the girl, granddaughter of the late President Taft, "is in no danger."

DEATHS

MRS. DELLA EARLY

LISBON, Aug. 21.—Mrs. Della Early, 77, died at 2:30 a. m. today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Perkins, Locust ave., following a long illness.

Born at Darlington, Pa., May 28, 1864, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edgar. She had lived in Darlington most of her life but had made her home with her daughter here for about 30 years. She was a member of the Methodist church at Darlington and the widow of Theodore Early, a Civil war veteran.

Surviving are her daughter and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Kayler and Mrs. Ella Bable of Beaver, Pa., 10 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Perkins home. Interment will be in Lisbon cemetery. The body is now at the Henry parlors.

Says Words Cannot Express Appreciation of Ton Jon

Upset Stomach Caused Most of His Trouble and Food Didn't Seem to Have Any Taste. Would Have Indigestion and Accumulations of Gas Immediately After Eating.

"I am so happy about the relief TON JON has given me that I would heartily recommend it to all sufferers," says Mr. B. T. Kegg, R. 4, Salem, Ohio, and a member of the M. E. church.

"All last winter my stomach was upset. Food didn't seem to have any taste and what I did eat wouldn't digest properly and would cause gas to form immediately. My heart fluttered terrifically and I didn't sleep very well because I was short of breath. I was compelled to take a laxative every night and headaches were common annoyances. My nerves became shattered and I was always feeling tired and worn out.

"Since TON JON seemed to be helping so many other people which I noticed in the paper, I resolved to try it. Words cannot express the appreciation I have for TON JON because it has benefitted me almost unbelievably. My appetite is improved and everything tastes good to me. Proper digestion takes place and I don't have those excessive gas formations in my stomach. I sleep better so of course I don't have that sluggish feeling that was so annoying a short time ago. I feel greatly improved in every way and I firmly believe there is nothing like TON JON.

You cannot go wrong in giving one of these 1-2-3 TON JON'S chance to help you. Visit the TON JON Health Representative at the Broadway-Lease Drug Store, Salem, Ohio.

Concludes Visit

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as lively as a youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

PUPPET LOVE

by Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.

CHAPTER ONE

Christopher Allen Bishop slid his shining roadster to a stop. He had come to a fork in the road. The left branch was a continuation of the three-lane highway, dotted with filling stations for man and car. The other was narrower and tree-lined, its dark tarred surface sun-dappled in the high noon of the June day. Which to take? It meant a decision.

And decisions on that day of days were of special importance to Christopher. A turn in the road seemed particularly significant. It might mean everything—or anything. It might determine his destination—his life itself.

Furthermore he had been raised in deep awe and reverence for the importance of all Bishop decisions. The minor ones were first page news, fairly important Bishop pronouncements made headlines, really important Bishop decisions had been known to occupy all of the immaterial pages for weeks on end. But then, of course, the Bishops were terribly important people, being the steel, iron and silver Bishops as well as the public utility Bishops. Also the very top strata of Fifth Avenue and Newport society.

Such was Christopher's family in the male line, as the genealogists say. His mother was the former Edith Allen, of the copper and shipping Allens. Solid and respectable, of course, but not really impeccable, which was one reason Edith Allen Bishop never let her son forget he was a Bishop.

Christopher considered the entire philosophy of his parents absurd, including their belief that more money should be made when they already possessed countless millions. When his father had wailed a few years before that probably they would all be penniless before the dawn of 1933, Christopher had welcomed the idea. But of course, nothing of the sort happened.

Nothing really worth while had ever happened, until that morning. And that Christopher reflected, as he lit a cigarette and contemplated the intriguing fork, was when he had finally taken matters into his own hands. Certainly a man was entitled to decide what he should do with his life—a man six feet two in his stocking feet and one hundred seventy in his bathing trunks, who'd never known a breath of freedom in twenty-four years. It was about time!

It wasn't that he was deserting responsibility. He'd never had any. He'd been sheltered and guarded and pampered and watched. An heir to millions, yet he never had more than a few dollars pocket money—a dollar a week allowance at college! He still cringed remembering the humiliations of that. His family called it teaching him the value of money. It merely gave him a false respect for cash, and an inferiority complex. But somehow he had survived that.

In succession he had survived two years in Europe under a tutor, and a year in Wall Street under the guidance of Burgess, Browne and Butterworth, investment brokers—of the better sort, of course. That job, like everything else in his life to date was a phoney. It had made the front pages, "Scion of wealthy family becomes a clerk—Christopher Allen Bishop twenty-five a week statistician."

He was always a scion in headlines. But now he was no longer a scion nor a mere twenty-five-a-week clerk. He was a free man. That day had come his personal revolution, precipitated by the obvious efforts of his family and his employer to arrange a match between Christopher and the lean and languorous Nancy Butterworth. The advertisements were his mother's. He thought of her as skinny and dull. Now he no longer had to think of Nancy Butterworth, nor Eunice Baddington Grant nor any other deb who had turned his evenings into nightmarish in swingtime, which thought added to the radiance of the day.

In his pocket he had five hundred and twenty-six dollars in cash. Five hundred collected that morning from the legacy of his late Aunt Maria Bishop, twenty-five guineas final weekly salary from the brokerage house of Burgess, Browne and Butterworth—final because he had resigned. The other dollar had been left over.

The revolution, the resignation and the collections had occurred between nine and ten that morning—June 12th. It was followed by a brief firm note of departure to his mother... sort of a disinheritation in reverse. No was two in the afternoon he was nearly one hundred and fifty miles from New York, in the green rolling country of southeastern Pennsylvania, a free man of modest means, in his own car. He'd won that in a radio contest.

For the car, Christopher had a great, personal affection. The family disapproved of it on general principles, but their son thought it more snappy, comfortable and practical than the family limousines and town cars, with right hand drives and foreign-made parts. Anyway, they were too much like heavenly chariots. The little car was more human; it brought a fellow closer to the road. And closer to the road meant closer to people. Christopher liked people. He'd known so few....

Now he was on the road, practically it. All he had to decide was which road. The car seemed to whisper as it idled. Christopher looked at the dash-board as he might study the fact of a friend. After all, its family knew more about roads than his family. Why not let the car decide?

There wasn't another machine in sight. He went into reverse a few yards, then gave the roadster its head, his hands hovering in anxious benediction over the wheel. The car rolled forward a short space then took a decided pull to the right, further.... further....

Whistling, Christopher stepped on the gas. It was a beautiful macadam road, running past neat farms, red barns and snug white houses. For years these side roads, glimpsed from the family limousine, had intrigued him, but the chauffeurs always had a known destination and kept to the main travelled highways. It was much more exciting to be merely on the way....

"Goin' far this way, buddy?" Christopher had slowed down for a crossroad and the voice coming so close to his ear seemed to be lifted out of his thoughts. He glanced about sharply into the sun-baked face of a boy of twenty. "Goin' far?" the boy repeated.

"How far do you want to go?" Christopher asked.

Ritchie Hurls Two Hit Game As Mullins Edge Driscolls, 2-1

TWO ERRORS GIVE RUNS TO MULLINS; RECREATION WINS

Recs Beat SWOC, 7-2. As Miller Leads Hitting Attack

Dale Ritchie, hurling a mighty fast ball for seven straight innings, limited Driscollwood to two hits and gave Mullins a 2-1 victory in one of the best softball games played in the city loop this year.

Both Mullins runs came on errors by Centerfielder Theriault. The Driscoll score came on a mental error by First-Sacker Stratton who walked off base carrying the ball and gave Red Hall a chance to steal home from third.

Ritchie struck out nine men in the contest, Phillips none. Greenisen's double in the last of the seventh was the winning blow and the only extra base hit in the game.

Earley and Miller poked out a triple and a double respectively to pace the Recreation to a 7-2 win over the SWOC. Earley allowed the losers only four safe hits.

In addition to his double, Miller rapped out a single to connect safely on two out of three trips to the plate and lead the Recreation batters.

The tournament annually attracts netters from a wide area in the county. Trophies are awarded the winners.

SCATTERGUNNERS SET FOR DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIPS

Will Shoot For Two Clays Thrown Simultaneously: Handicap Is Next

VANDALIA, Aug. 21.—The nation's top-flight scatter-gun specialists, having completed their 16-yard chores in the 42nd Grand American trapshoot, returned to tougher tasks today—the doubles championship race and the preliminary handicap.

The doubles event consists of 50 pairs of clays, two being tossed simultaneously, with the marksmen attempting to "kill" both with a bang-bang technique. Last year E. L. (Red) Hawkins of Port Wayne, Ind., won the event with 98 of 100. Hawkins defends his laurels today.

The preliminary handicap is an exact replica of the Grand American handicap. The shooters are stationed, according to their averages for the year or their known ability, at points from 16 to 25 yards back of the trap from which the clays are hurled.

Last year, Roy W. Miller of Grove City, Minn., a rural mail carrier, broke 100 in a row from 20 yards to take the preliminary. Miller is back for another try at the big money, but the odds are all against him for no one ever has won the race twice.

May Draw 1,000
A field of about 900 is expected to fire in the preliminary and tomorrow's Grand American may soar over the 1,000 mark, making it the second largest in history.

Yesterday the shooters decided the class championships at 16 yards over the 200-target route, and here are the winners:

Class AA—Joe Hiestand, Hillsboro, Ohio, 200 of 200.
Class A—Art Firney, Mankato, Minn., 200 of 200.
Class B—Dr. O. T. Dean, Seattle, Wash., 199 of 200.
Class C—W. S. Barnes, Sykesville, Me., 197 of 200.
Class D—J. A. Cox of Munnah, Pa., and C. C. Then, Columbus, O., tied at 191 of 200. Shootoff scheduled today.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By SID FEDER
(Punch-Hitting For Eddie Brietz)
NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—You hear the strangest things... Like the Saratoga story that Eddie Arcaro's perume is one of the reasons he and Whirlaway get along so well.

Every time he's been on Whirlaway, Eddie's used a lot of it, and when little wacko gets a whiff, he forgets all about running crooked.

Then there's the whisper going 'round the American league that Bobby Feller's depending so much on his curve these days because he's lost—or mislaid—his fast one...

Southwest grid coaches say it's between Texas and Rice this fall.

Busy Man's Newspaper
Old-timers around St. Leo watched young Howie Pollet check in with a four-hitter, and recalled a guy named Dizzy Dean bowed into the big leagues with a three-hit whitewash job way back in 1930...

And right in the middle of a hot flag fight, too... You can laugh off those stories that light-heavy champ Gus Lesnevich is having weight troubles for his fight with Tami Mauriello in the Garden next Tuesday...

Word from New England is Challeand will end his winning in the Pacific in time to try some running again at Narragansett's fall meeting.

HEADLINE: Williams Hits Five Homers in Two Days
The pitchers' union must agree that Williams is on quite a spree. On every team he finds his cousins.

And he knocks 'em out of the daze. So for their own self preservation And to end their aggravation The hurlers should stop serving Ted Home run balls, and walk him instead.

How-Do-They-Do-It-Dept.
The White Sox, last in club batting in the American league, seventh in fielding, lowest in homer hitting... Right now are the hottest club in the loop...

Don't believe a word of that yarn about Yankee coach Art Fletcher getting the job as Detroit Manager... He's turned down a lot better bossing jobs than the Tigers can offer... The Dodgers, who raised that beef about extra men on the Cubs roster, have it right in their own laps now... And Judge Landis has given 'em ten days to cut from 26 to 23.

A Cleveland fan writes that the citizens there didn't quit on the Indians—"They quit on us."

CARDINALS AGAIN STRUCK BY INJURY JINX; MOORE IS HIT

League's Best Centerfielder Beamed By Art Johnson: Out For Week

(By Associated Press)
The pennant problem in the National league is getting to be "Can the St. Louis Cardinals keep going with all their injuries?" Instead of "Can the Cardinals beat the Brooklyn Dodgers?"

There have been only five games this season in which Manager Billy Southworth has had available the complete Cardinal lineup and the club's hospital list is beginning to read like a page out of Who's Who in Baseball.

Topping off a long string of accidents, Terry Moore, the best centerfielder in the league, was struck on the head by a ball pitched by Art Johnson yesterday at Boston. He will be out of action for possibly a week.

Moore is an invaluable cog in the club, one of the great fielding players in baseball, a 300 plus hitter, and a real gas-houser with the heart of a lion.

Joins Slaughter
His loss would be catastrophic to many clubs and may be to the Cardinals. It came just ten days after slugging Elmer Slaughter, the Cards' rightfielder, was lost for the rest of the season with a broken shoulder.

In spite of this procession of trouble the Cardinals yesterday swept a doubleheader from the Braves, 2-0 and 3-2. Ernie White pitched a six-hit shutout in the first game and Howard Pollet, 20-year-old southpaw just brought up from old southpaw, pitched a four-hit Texas league, pitched a four-hitter for his major league debut in the nightcap.

The double triumph enabled the Cards to climb within a game and a half of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who were given a 7-6 handout by the Pittsburgh Pirates for Brooklyn's sixth straight win.

Win On Error
The winning run crossed the plate in the ninth inning when Rightfielder Elliott dropped a fly ball with the bases loaded and two out. It was Pittsburgh's fifth error of the day.

Johnny Allen, waived out of the American league by the St. Louis Browns, received credit for his second National league victory with three innings of scoreless relief pitching for the Dodgers.

The Cincinnati Reds reinforced their third place position by shutting out the poor Phillies twice, 2-0 and 3-0, and the Chicago Cubs cut loose with a 16-hit attack to beat the New York Giants 9-4.

Tigers Beat Yanks
In the American league the New York Yankees were squeezed out 1-0 by the Detroit Tigers as Tommy Bridges pitched two-hit ball for ten innings in one of the finest performances of his long career. Ernie Bonham of the Yanks gave up a dozen safeties, but wasn't scored upon until the Bengals bunched three singles in the tenth.

The Chicago White Sox chopped another game off the Yankees' ample lead as John Rigney blanked the Philadelphia Athletics 9-0.

The collapsing Cleveland Indians dropped their 14th game in 15 decisions 6-3 to the Washington Senators in a pitching duel between Arne Anderson and Al Smith which was decided in the ninth inning.

Ted Williams hit two home runs, giving him a total of five in two days and 28 for the season, but his Boston Red Sox were beaten in both ends of a doubleheader by the St. Louis Browns, 11-9, and 4-3.

Feller was named to pitch as the Yankees arrived in town today, but the city generally remained calm.

When the New Yorkers arrived the last time—July 16—they were only five games ahead of Cleveland and the three-tussle series drew 100,468 pennant-hungry fans.

Feller won his game in the series and the Yanks the other two. Since then the diving Redskins have posted only eight victories and are in fourth place 19 games in back of the Bronx bombers.

Feller himself has added only one triumph to his victory string since and guns for his 21st decision again today. Atley Donald was the New York nominee.

Cleveland lost its seventh straight yesterday as Washington completed a sweep of three games.

Arnold Anderson turned back the feeble-hitting Tribe, although he called for help when the Indians scored two runs in the ninth and had the bases filled. Walter Masterson retired Clarence Campbell on an easy grounder to end the game.

Al Smith went the route for Cleveland, giving up seven hits and six walks. Washington clinched the verdict in the last inning with four runs on three bases on balls and singles by Jimmy Bloodworth, Rog Cramer and Cecil Travis.

ALLIANCE SQUAD LAUNCHES DRILLS
Coach Hoppes Will Open Practice For Sixty Aspirants

ALLIANCE — Coach Leonard (Dutch) Hoppes issued equipment to nearly 30 candidates for Alliance High school's football team Monday and told them they would be expected to report for practice today on the Mt. Union college field.

Beginning his second season at Alliance after coming here from Conneaut, Hoppes is faced with a 10 game schedule that includes a contest with Canton McKinley, Massillon, Steubenville, Martins Ferry and Salem.

The Alliance mentor intends to hold grid drills twice a day until school starts Sept. 8. His first game is a Friday night contest at Campbell, Sept. 19.

Johnny Sturm, first baseman of the New York Yankees, is planning to plunge into the matrimonial sea—probably in November.

As DiMaggio Sprained Ankle

The alert cameraman catches Joe DiMaggio as he turned his ankle rounding second base during the game with the Tigers in Detroit. X-rays showed no bones were broken. He will probably be lost to the Yanks for at least a week.

Speculate On Feller Deferment; Rapid Bob Spends On Dad

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—The sports world—especially Cleveland baseball fans—speculated today on the possibility of Bob Feller, the Indians' ace pitcher, being deferred from military service because of dependency.

Bob, 22 and unmarried, has returned his questionnaire and taken a physical examination, but has not been classified.

A suggestion that baseball's leading hurler may be deferred came with the disclosure that he has been spending $7,500 a year to provide treatment and health-travel for his ailing father, William.

Bob's father confirmed the reports from his Van Meter, Ia., home, declaring his illness has cost the youth "plenty of money" in the last six years.

However, the strikeout king's only comment was: "I have never asked for deferment and I won't ask—that is purely in the hands of the draft board."

Benny McCoy, second baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, recently was deferred under a presidential ruling that selectees should not be forced to use savings to support dependents.

Will Hurt Today
Feller was named to pitch as the Yankees arrived in town today, but the city generally remained calm.

GOLFERS WILL VIE IN CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLES AT CLUB

Thirty-two Qualified For Annual Tourney At Salem Course

With qualifying rounds completed and players paired for the first match the Salem Golf club championship tournament will hit its stride this weekend when 32 players tee off on the initial lap of the annual tourney.

The tourney is divided this year into two divisions: A for golfers with handicaps up to and including 11, and B for golfers with handicaps over 11.

The tournament however is match play with no handicaps. Golfers are battling for the championship trophy to be awarded the winner and runners-up in each division.

BIG SIX LOSES

 making Junior college graduates eligible for competition their first year on a Big Six campus, however, has been suggested. Such a law recently was passed by the neighboring Missouri Valley conference.

Athletic directors and business managers say the loss of manpower has been so little it has had no effect on ticket prices or game schedules for the future.

In contrast, Oklahoma announced all box seats for its annual joint with Texas on Oct. 11 were sold 10 weeks before the game.

Promoter Mike Jacobs recently turned down an offer from a movie picture concern in Hollywood to film the story of his life. Mike refused because the script called for a woman manager to play opposite the masculine lead.
